VALUATION OF ASSETS, CHARGES, DISTRIBUTION AND FEES

Valuation and pricing

1. The offer prices of a scheme shall be calculated on the basis of the net asset value of the scheme divided by the number of interests outstanding.
2. The offer prices of a scheme may be adjusted by the fees, levies and charges permitted to be made from the assets of the scheme in accordance with the Regulations.
3. Upon redemption of interests, the value of the shares shall be determined by adding interest accrued [which shall be determined by an interest rate guaranteed at the time of issuing the shares] to the initial investment amount.

5. There shall be no further charges payable by investors other than stamp duty or other taxes.

Pricing Fund Shares and Valuation

The price of Fund Shares, called the net asset value per share, shall be expressed in the base currency which is the Ghanaian Cedi. The net asset value per share will be determined in respect of any valuation day by dividing the net assets of the Fund[being the value of the assets of the Fund less liabilities] by the number of Fund shares then outstanding and shall be rounded up or down to two decimal places as the Board of Directors will decide.

The Fund determines the value of its portfolio securities by the amortized cost method which involves valuing a debt obligation in reference to its cost, rather than market value. An instrument is valued at cost and thereafter assumes a constant amortization to maturity of any discount or premium regardless of the impact of fluctuating interest rates on the market value of the instrument.

While this method provides certainty in valuation, it may result in periods during which value, as determined by amortized cost, is higher or lower than the price the Fund would receive if it sold the instrument.

Portfolio securities that are traded on a Stock Exchange are valued at the last trade price on the Exchange as of the close of business on the day the securities are being valued. Securities traded in the over-the-counter market are valued at the last available trade price in the over-the-counter market prior to the time of valuation.

Valuation of unquoted securities

1. The value of investments not listed or quoted shall be based on the net asset value per share based on the last available financial statements subject to an adjustment upwards or downwards of up to 10 per cent to take into account post-balance sheet market conditions except that any adjustment in the price by more than 10 per cent in view of market conditions may be made only in consultation with the Board of Directors of the Fund.
2. The Manager shall keep all records used to support the valuation of unquoted securities.

The Net Asset Value (NAV) is the price at which shares are issued and is the basis for determining management fees and custodian charges. The Net Asset Value per share of the Fund is determined every business day.

Remuneration of the Manager

- a) The Management Fee shall be calculated on a daily basis but paid monthly. It shall not exceed a maximum of 2.5% per annum of the value of the net assets of the Fund. - b) Any indirect tax chargeable in respect of services supplied by the Manager in consideration of the Management Fee shall be paid out of the assets of the Fund.

ADDITIONAL INFORMATION

Risk Factors

There is no assurance that the Fund will achieve its investment objective.

The investment of the Fund will be subject to normal market fluctuations and other risks inherent in investing in securities and there can be no assurance that any appreciation in value will occur. The value of investments and the income derived there from, which is linked to the net asset value of the Fund, may rise or fall. However this will NOT result in the possibility of the investor not realizing his initial investment since the return on the investment will be guaranteed. An investor who sells shares after holding for a short period, not up to the recommended holding period, may, in addition, not benefit from the guaranteed return and faces the possibility of not realizing the amount originally invested.

Investing in securities in Ghana and other newer emerging markets, involves certain considerations not usually associated with investing in securities of issues in more developed capital markets. Such risks may include:

- a) Greater economic uncertainty;
- b) The small size of the markets for securities and low volumes of trading resulting in illiquidity and price volatility; and
- c) The relative lack of publicly available information on listed companies.

There is the possibility of delays in the settlement of trades which may result in periods when the assets of the Fund are invested and no return is earned thereon.

Shareholders who purchase shares using foreign currency may be subject to significant fluctuations of currency rates. Changes in foreign currency exchange rates will affect the value of securities when translated into the currency with which the shareholder invested.

Investment in equity securities carries greater risks than investment in government instruments and investors should be aware that while equity securities can be extremely rewarding, the risks are consequently higher. Investors should regard investments in the Fund as medium to long-term in nature and should expect a moderate level of volatility due to the relatively moderate level of risk involved.

A principal risk of investing in the Fund is associated with its equity investments. In general, stock values fluctuate in response to activities specific to the company as well as general market, economic and political conditions. Stock prices can fluctuate widely in response to these factors.

Some other risk factors are:

Interest Rate Risk

If interest rates rise, bond prices usually decline. If interest rates decline, bond prices usually increase. This risk exists because new bonds are likely to be issued with higher yields as interest rates increase, making the old or outstanding bonds less attractive. The longer a bond fund's maturity, the greater the impact a change in interest rates can have on its price. The Guaranteed Fund will not have a fixed maturity but an average portfolio maturity-the average of all the bonds' maturity dates in the fund's portfolio. In general, the longer a fund's average portfolio maturity, the more sensitive the fund's share price will be to changes in interest rates and the more the fund's shares will fluctuate in value.

Credit Risk

Fixed income securities carry the risk of default, which means that the issuer may be unable to make further income and principal payments. Since a bond fund is made up of many individual bonds, diversification can help mitigate the credit risk which would affect bond prices, or a default. Credit risk, especially for companies, is a greater concern for high-yield bonds and bond funds that invest in lower-quality bonds and bonds of issuers whose ability to pay interest and principal may be considered speculative. However it is less likely that investors will lose their initial investment because bondholders have priority over equity shareholders if the company goes bankrupt.

Many issuers of bonds are governments who can print money; therefore investments in Government securities are in effect risk-free, at least with regards to principal and interest payments. Recent happenings in Spain and Ireland illustrate this quite vividly.

Inflation Risk

High inflation rates can erode the real value of both interest and principal and jeopardize any fixed income cash flow stream.

Call Risk

A callable bond has a provision that allows the issuer to call, or repay, the bond early. If interest rates drop low enough, the bond's issuer can save money by repaying its callable bonds and issuing new bonds at lower coupon rates. If this happens, the fund's interest payments cease and the principal will be paid early. If the fund then reinvests the principal in bonds, it will likely have to accept a lower coupon rate that is more consistent with then prevailing interest rates.

Prepayment Risk

Some classes of bonds, including mortgage-backed bonds, are subject to prepayment risk. Similar to call risk, prepayment risk is the risk that the issuer of a security will repay principal prior to the bond's maturity date, thereby changing the expected payment schedule of the bonds.

Reinvestment Risk

Reinvestment risk is based on the assumption that cash flows from a fixed-income security are reinvested, so that interest can be earned on interest, the risk arises when the reinvested money does not earn the same rate of return as the original investment. Therefore during periods of declining interest rates, the Fund will have to reinvest coupon payments at lower, prevailing interest rates.

Taxation

Taxation of the Company: Under Ghanaian tax laws, the interest, dividends, or any other income of a mutual fund is exempt from income tax. Currently there is no tax on capital gains on the sale of securities listed on the Ghana Stock Exchange.

Taxation of Shareholders: The interest or dividends payable to a member of a mutual fund is exempt from tax.

Economic risk

One of the risks associated with the equity component of the fund is the economic risk. This arises when the economy is in a general decline or there is a recession.

Liquidity Risk

This risk exists when particular investments are difficult to purchase or sell, possibly preventing the Fund from selling out of these illiquid securities at an advantageous price. This could lead to extended withdrawal periods due to the Funds inability to meet redemption request. This will mainly affect the fund's equity investment.

Currency Risk

The fund may incur a loss as a result of currency depreciation since it will be investing across Africa
