Chairman's Statements To Databank MFUND Shareholders

Dear Valued Shareholders

I would like to welcome you all to the 10th Annual General Meeting of the Databank Money Market Fund (MFund). I want to thank you on behalf of the entire Databank family for your continued support and patronage of the Fund, Ghana's largest money market fund. I am excited to inform you that the Fund performed well last year, posting the second highest annual return since its inception. Broadly, I will provide a brief overview of global economic conditions in 2013 and macroeconomic developments in Ghana that are of importance to the Fund, as well as, present the performance of your Fund in 2013 and our outlook for 2014.

Overview of the Economy and Money market

Global GDP was estimated by the IMF to have grown by 3.0% in 2013. While growth was sluggish during the first half of 2013, the pace of growth quickened during the second half. For example, the second half of 2013 recorded a rate of 3.3% up from 2.7% for the first half of 2013. This improvement in economic output was driven by strong US economic growth (3.3%) and a rebound of the Euro area economies after a recession. Sub-Saharan African economies continue to post strong growth, with an estimated 2013 GDP growth of 4.9%. The weak points in global economic growth remain the periphery Euro area countries and Japan due to high debt burdens.

Ghana's economy registered a slow down in growth to 7.1% for 2013, down from 8.8% recorded in 2012. Economic growth was supported by the services sector (8.9%) and the industry sector (7.0%), while the agricultural sector posted growth of 5.2%. Headline inflation increased markedly in 2013 from 8.8% in Jan-13 to 13.5% in Dec-13, driven by price hikes in fuel and utilities (35%) and transport (25.6%). The Government of Ghana continued to run a significant fiscal deficit at 10.8% of GDP, well above the government's target of 9%. The single spine salary structure induced public wage pressures, which is estimated at 65% of tax revenues or 9.3% of GDP. On the currency markets, the Cedi continued its depreciation trend against all the major currencies. Specifically, the Cedi depreciated by 12.81% against the US Dollar to 2.16 per USD in 2013.

Money market conditions presented attractive investment opportunities. Interest-rates remained at a high level for the first half of 2013, before trending down in the second half of the year. The benchmark 91-day T-Bill yield started the year at 23.03%, remained in the 22.5%-23% range until the beginning of September, and ended the year at 19.22%. Similarly, yields on the 1-yr and 2-yr Notes began the year at 22.9% and 23.0% respectively and ended at 17.0% and 16.8%. The downward movement in yields was in contrast with the Monetary Policy Committee's decision to increase the policy rate by 100bps to 16%. The Government also issued a 10-yr Eurobond worth $1 billion with a coupon of 7.875%, which compares favorably with the coupon of 8.5% on the Eurobond issued in 2007.

Mfund Performance

I am glad to report that Mfund posted a strong performance in 2013 as the high interest rate environment boosted returns. Mfund closed the year at a price of GHS0.4578, translating into an annualized yield of 22.11%. The Fund outperformed the 91-day T-Bill, which posted an average annual yield of 21.94%, and an end period outturn of 19.22%. Consequently, total assets under management of the Fund increased by 22% in 2013 to GH¢105.25m.

I am also pleased to announce to you that the number of investors in your Fund increased by 4% in 2013 from 54,894 in 2012 to 56,980 shareholders in 2013.

Outlook for 2014

Dear Mfund shareholders,

We expect 2014 to be characterized by some economic challenges at the domestic level, while on the global scene economic activity will continue to improve. That notwithstanding, 2014 will continue to present opportunities for your Fund to post an even stronger performance.

Broadly, the increased pace of global economic growth observed in the second half of 2013 is expected to extend into 2014, with the world economy projected to grow by 3.6%. Sub-Saharan African economies are expected to post strong economic growth at 5.4% to support this global growth. Inherently, the strengthening of the US economy has led the US Federal Reserve to scale down the pace of its quantitative easing. This is expected to increase yields on developed market government securities, making them more attractive. Consequently, global investors are likely to reduce foreign investment in emerging and frontier markets like Ghana.

Ghana's economy is encumbered with multiple challenges that will impede economic growth in 2014. Economic growth is expected to be muted at 4.8% (IMF WEO, April 2014) against a government target of 8.0%. Increased foreign outflows have led to a sharp depreciation of the Cedi. The local currency has lost about 28% during first half of 2014, and is expected to depreciate further to between 30 and 32% by the end of 2014. The high level of depreciation has induced inflationary pressures, with June 2014 inflation reaching 15%. Pricing pressures are expected to continue with an estimated CPI inflation of 16% by the end of 2014.

Our expectation is that Ghana will continue to experience a high interest rate environment for 2014 as the Government of Ghana tries to deal with its persistent fiscal deficit. The Bank of Ghana maintained its policy rate at 18% in April 2014, but increased the cash reserve requirement to 19% from 9% in an effort to rein in inflationary pressures and stem the cedi depreciation. We expect the MPC to increase the policy rate further by 100bps to 19% in Q3-2014. These factors are expected to keep yields on money market investments elevated.

Mfund is positioned to benefit from the high interest environment in Ghana, and will continue to deliver competitive returns for you, the shareholder. I would like to thank you for your continued support and look forward to a profitable year in 2014.

God bless you all.

Keli Gadzepko

Portfolio At A Glance

As At December 31, 2013

Interview With Your Fund Manager

How did the Fund perform in 2013?

The performance of the Fund in 2013 showed a strong recovery from the 2012 outturn when the Fund's yield lagged its benchmark government security. Specifically, the Fund ended the year with an annualized yield of 22.11%, which compares favourably with the yield on the 91-day Treasury Bill of 19.22% during the same period. The average savings rate for commercial banks, which also serves as a benchmark for the Fund, was 12.27% in 2013.

What contributed to this performance?

We took steps to rebalance the portfolio for most of 2013, mainly by increasing the Certificates of Deposit with commercial banks and NBFIs as against government securities. In Q4-2013, we also improved on our market risk analysis for making placement decisions, which helped during the subsequent interest rate declines on government securities. These improvements are to lay the foundation for further restructuring of the Fund in 2014. We are committed to making the Fund the best structured fixed income portfolio in the market over the coming years, which should position us to be nimble when adverse interest rate shocks occur.

How different is your Fund from competitors'?

The asset allocation strategy of the Fund remains very conservative, which reflects our objective of income preservation. Most funds in the market take more risk and invest in micro credit institutions, but we remain focused on high quality short term debt. This strategy has delivered competitive return at relatively low risk, which we believe reflects the aim of our diverse shareholder base. We will continue to focus on delivering an efficient portfolio with competitive returns at lower risk.

Can we discuss the portfolio mix in 2013?

Certainly! We invested only 62% of the portfolio in Certificates of Deposit in 2013 compared to a 73% allocation in 2012; but at the same time we also increased the Commercial Paper holdings of the Fund to 10% in 2013 from 1% in 2012. The remaining assets of the Fund were distributed as follows: Treasury Securities (17%), Cash and Receivables (6%), Commercial Paper (10%). Consistent with this allocation strategy is that we have taken steps to diversify the Fund's holdings in 2013 by using up the Commercial Paper mandate, while reducing the Certificates of Deposit holdings.

How did the Fund fare in AUM growth for 2013?

The Fund's AUM grew by 22% in 2013 to GH¢105.25m on account of strong inflows and interest income. The comparable figure for 2012 was GH¢85.99m. This mainly reflects the Fund's improved performance in 2013.

What were the dynamics of the market in 2013?

The yield on the 91-day Treasury Bill declined from 23.12% (December 2012) to 19.22% (December 2013) - the partial explanation for this is government's refinancing strategy where the 2023 Eurobond<sup>2</sup> proceeds were used to buy back old debt. In line with the 91-day bill, the 182-day bill and 1-year note had their yields decline from 22.99% and 18.65% to 22% and 17% respectively; while the yield on the 2-year and 3-year notes fell from 23% and 24% to 16.8% and 16.73%, respectively.

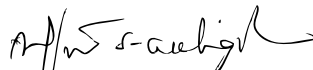

Generally, the market dynamics in 2013 suggested that there was more activity in the money market than in the long end of the yield curve. Although commercial banks raised new capital, which was committed to fixed income investment, the Banks preferred to keep to the short end of the market. It also seemed worrying that the lack of credibility of fiscal policy to rein in deficit continues to hinder sustained interest in longer term instruments in Ghana.

What is the outlook for the market and the Fund?

There is clearly uncertainty in the market due to the mixed signals on government's fiscal consolidation measures and the lack of any coherent debt restructuring measures. The sentiments in the market indicate that interest rate levels will remain elevated in the short-term, and we are of the view that this trend will continue until the government issues another Eurobond or engages the IMF and World Bank for support.

Our response to the uncertainty in the economy is to take steps to further improve on market risk and restructure the portfolio for a more enhanced risk adjusted yield. We have improved on the portfolio duration to reflect the interest rate regime, and are committed to a strategy that will ensure that the Fund remains the best money market fund in the market.

Notes to Financial Statements

1. Accounting Policies

The following principal accounting policies have been consistently applied during the year in accounting for items that are considered material in the preparation of the Fund's financial statements.

The financial statements are presented in Ghana cedi.

i. Income Recognition

Interest income is recognized on the accrual basis of accounting. Interest income comprises interest on treasury bills, commercial papers and certificates of deposit. The recognition of interest ceases when the payment of interest or principal is in doubt. Thereafter, interest is included in income only when it is received.

Commissions and fees are credited to income when earned.

ii. Expenses

Expenses are recognized when incurred, without regard to payment of cash.

iii. Investments

Valuation of the fund is determined by the amortized cost method. This involves the valuing of a debt obligation in reference to its cost rather than market value. In this regard, short-term securities having maturity of ninety-one days or less are valued at amortized cost.

iv. Foreign Currency

Transactions in foreign currencies during the period are converted into cedis at rates ruling at the transaction dates. Assets and liabilities denominated in foreign currencies are translated into cedis at exchange rates ruling at the financial year-end. The gains and losses resulting from exchanges are dealt with in arriving at the period's operating profit.

v. Commercial Paper

Commercial paper is stated in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities at the principal amount and interest less provision for doubtful debts. Provisions against commercial paper are based on an appraisal of the portfolio and are made having regard to specific risks. There is no provision for doubtful debts.

vi. Certificates of Deposit

Certificates of Deposit are stated in the Statement of Assets and Liabilities at the principal amount and interest less provision for doubtful debts. Provisions against Certificates of Deposit are made having regard to specific risks. There is no provision for doubtful debts.
