4.10 Market for the Units

The Units of the Trust will not be listed on any stock exchange. All dealings in the Units will be at the registered office of the Manager.

5. RISK FACTORS AND SPECIAL CONSIDERATIONS

5.1 Cautionary Statements

The investments of the Trust are subject to normal market fluctuations and other risks inherent in investing in securities. Although the primary goal of the Trust is to preserve capital and create income for the investor there are risk considerations that are beyond the control of the Manager. The value of the Trust is subject for example to the effects of interest rate and exchange rate fluctuations, inflation, and any other adverse changes in the economic environment. The combined effects of all of these may adversely affect the value of the Trust. There can be no assurance that the expected appreciation in the value of investment will occur. The value of investments and the income derived from them may fall below the expectation of Unit Holders. There is no certainty that the investment objectives of the Trust will actually be achieved and no warranty or representation is given to that effect.

An investor may seek investment advice before subscribing to the scheme.

5.2 Legal Risk

Ghana's law regarding fiduciary duties of officers and directors of investment management firms, and the protection of investors are developing and laws may not exist to cover all contingencies. As a result, the administration of laws and regulations by government agencies may be subject to considerable discretion.

5.3 Market Risk - Availability and Liquidity of securities

The Ghanaian securities market is small, illiquid and potentially volatile. The limited liquidity of the Ghanaian securities market may also affect the Trust's ability to acquire or dispose off securities at the price it so wishes to do.

5.4 No Rating Criteria For Quasi-Government Debt Securities

The Trust has not established any rating criteria for the debt securities in which it may invest and such securities will probably not be rated at all for creditworthiness by internationally recognized rating organizations. Debt securities on the Ghanaian financial markets may generally be unrated. In purchasing such securities, the Trust will rely on the Manager's thorough due diligence, analysis of such investments, professional judgment, analysis and experience in evaluating the credit worthiness of an issuer. The Manager will take into consideration, among other things, the issuer's resources, and its sensitivity to economic conditions and trends, its operating history, the quality of the issuers' management, corporate governance practices and regulatory matters.

5.5 Taxation

The Trust qualifies for the special tax treatment afforded authorized collective investment schemes under the Securities Industries Law, The Income Tax Act, 2015 (Act896) and under the Unit Trust and Mutual Fund Regulations (LI 1695).

However, since tax legislations are subject to changes, the Manager is not in a position to guarantee investor's current or future after-tax incomes under the Trust.

5.6 Target Market Risk

Tesah Treasury Trust has identified individuals, corporate bodies, associations, pension funds, endowment funds and provident funds as its targets. The Trust is structured to meet the investment needs of the following types of investors:

- i. Ghanaian citizens and corporate institutions
- ii. Foreigners and corporate institutions based abroad
- iii. Lecturers, students, workers of the tertiary institutions and tertiary institutions
- iv. Ghanaian financial institutions and insurance companies
- v. Endowment, provident and pension funds
- vi. Churches and religious organizations
- vii. Professional bodies, associations and clubs

There is the risk that the targeted investor's may either have insufficient funds or interest in the scheme during the launch to make it a success. The Manager guarantees an initial minimum subscription of One Million Ghana Cedis (GH¢1,000,000.00). In the event that after the closure of the Initial Public Offering the minimum subscription is not raised, the Manager guarantees to purchase from the Trust to make up for the short fall between the amount raised and the guaranteed minimum subscription. This sufficiently ensures that the offer would be a success.

6.7 Benefits of investing in the Trust

Investment in Units of the Trust potentially offers several benefits. Many investors, particularly individuals, lack the information or capability to invest in a variety of high-income earning securities. This Trust could significantly address this by changing the characteristics of the investor's portfolio in terms of risk diversification, liquidity and returns. Investors in the Trust have the potential to maximise income on the short end of the financial market through a diversified portfolio of mixed short-term securities – maturity profiles and medium to long-term debt securities. This mix of assets has the potential to;

1. Provide safety through investment in government and quasi-government securities,
2. Generate competitive returns at a lower or zero risk,
3. Provide diversification across different maturity profiles and yields,
4. Provide liquidity – easy redemption of funds invested and
5. Preserve capital.

Investment selection for the Trust's portfolio will employ professional fund management methods and practices backed by comprehensive research and analysis.
